Stone Age – How did Britain change from the beginning of the Stone Age to the Iron Age?

Subject Specific Vocabulary

archaeologists	People who discover our history by looking at artefacts that have been found.
artefact	An object, usually with historical or cultural interest.
Stone Age	The earliest period of human culture ,when stone tools were used.
Bronze Age	The time between the stone and iron ages when tools were made from mixtures of metals including bronze (copper and tin).
Iron Age	The period of time when tolls were mostly made from iron.
B.C.	Before Christ. 250BC means 250 years before Christ was born.
chronology	The ordering of events, for example the Stone age
tribal	Groups of people who live together.
hunter-gatherers	People who mainly live by hunting, fishing and gathering wild fruit.
shelter	A house where Stone Age people would have lived.
civilization	When people live in a large society with a shared culture and rules.
settlement	A place where there were several Stone Age shelters, like a small village.

Exciting Books

Important places

Skara Brae- The archaeological site found on the Orkney Islands in Scotland. It is a Stone Age village that has been well preserved.

Stonehenge
A famous Stone Age monument in Wiltshire.

Sticky Knowledge

- The Stone Age started about 2.6 million years ago when Humans started to live in Europe
- Place the historical events of the Stone, Bronze and Iron Age on a timeline in chronological order.
- Hunter-gatherers are people who mainly live by hunting, fishing and gathering wild fruit.
- In the early Stone Age people were hunter-gatherers.
- Later in the Stone Age humans settled in communities and started farming animals and crops.
- The Bronze age followed the Stone Age and this is when humans started to use metal.
- The Iron age followed the Bronze age and this is when tools and weapons became more advanced in farming.

